The Covered Bond Report is the only publication dedicated to the covered bond market. Our website provides timely and comprehensive news, analysis and data on covered bonds around the globe, and is complemented by a bi-monthly magazine. Registrants to The Covered Bond Report website receive a daily bulletin bringing them the latest on the asset class. The website incorporates a database of more than 1,900 benchmark covered bonds in euros, US dollars and other key currencies. Users can search for deals via several fields, including country, collateral and issuer. Deals are then linked to related editorial coverage. League tables of the leading investment banks in the industry can also be generated. The Covered Bond Report is led by Neil Day, a former editor of EuroWeek (now GlobalCapital), Euromoney Institutional Investor’s flagship capital markets publication. He was founding managing editor of The Cover, an award winning website on the covered bond market, from its launch in 2007 until November 2010. Neil has followed the covered bond market from the time it was an almost exclusively German market in Deutschmarks, broke news in 2004 of the UK Financial Services Authority’s initial policy on covered bonds, and more recently published the US Covered Bond Act of 2011 ahead of its official announcement by Congressman Scott Garrett.
